Our activities this term have been going to three small events. Nothing really exciting like the JK or the Summer weekends, but they have been useful training. There's also been a lot of behind the scenes work. A useful thing that was brought out at Aylesbury is that where there are two or more nearby controls, it is easy to punch the wrong one. So it pays to check the control code letter every time. Here is the detail of the events :*

Minibus was found after a struggle. It was fun driving through London.

Assuming that Sunday driving is not banned, the forecast is

- Sun 2 Dec Club Event (Happy Herts) near Slough
- Sun 9 Dec Badge Event (South East) Hindhead Common, Guildford.

This should be a good way to wind up term. Interested parties and cars might like to decorate the door of S5, Queens - Steve Thomas. So you can keep your hand in during the vac, a list of events in GB will be circulated as soon as we get the info. If the driving has to stop, a good substitute for Orient. might be the self-contained art of backpacking - see Steve O'Collard, St John, for detail.

A match of interest will be the one versus the People at Oxford. The match is will be held over 'neutral' ground at Ivinghoe Woods on the morning W d 28 Nov. A team has been brought together, and we wish them good luck.

Something that we are planning to do is to hold our own training events near Cambridge next March or so. Much as it may surprise you, there are some select pieces of woodland nearby worth running in. This is thanks to the University Society Syndicate, who have provide us with a grant of £25 to print our own money maps with.

That seems to be about all there is on the cards, Though if anyone knows a source of a low-priced minibus for travelling in, could he let Alan Gibson Downing College know, the Treasurer would also like to hear as well.

Good Orienteering then,
